BEFORE YOU STEP INTO THE PULPIT

Pre-Preaching Checklist

Ready on paper is not the same as ready to preach.

You've done the work. The exegesis is solid, the outline is set. Before you step into the pulpit, walk through this one more time — not to second-guess your prep, but to settle into it, so you can preach with a clear mind and an open hand.

SERMON TITLE _____ PREACHING DATE _____

1 Message Clarity

- [ ] I can state my big idea in one sentence from memory
  - TEST: Say it out loud in 15 words or fewer. Could a 12-year-old repeat it back?
  - HOW TO FIX: Keep asking "What about it?" until it's a complete sentence.
- [ ] I know exactly where the gospel appears in this sermon
  - TEST: Put your finger on the paragraph. Who's the hero there: God or us?
  - HOW TO FIX: Look at your application section and rewrite it so that it's a response to what Jesus has done, not just an action we can take on our own.
- [ ] My application is specific
  - TEST: Does it have a who, a when, and a what? "This week, when ___ happens, I will ___."
  - HOW TO FIX: Name a real moment in your listeners' week that is changed because of this sermon.

2 Opening & Closing

- [ ] My first 60 seconds are memorized or nearly memorized
  - TEST: Preach your opening minute or two without notes.
  - HOW TO FIX: If it's rusty the first time, try it again once or twice. It'll be smoother, I promise, and you'll be thankful you did.
- [ ] My closing lands on a clear call to response
  - TEST: Do people know exactly how they should respond to your sermon?
  - HOW TO FIX: Close your eyes and imagine that moment. Are people raising hands? Praying a prayer? Planning their action step? Journaling? Something else?
- [ ] I know how I'm ending before I start
  - TEST: Do you know exactly where your sermon is landing?
  - HOW TO FIX: Write your last sentence or two word for word.

3 Flow & Transitions

- [ ] I know how I'm going to move from one point to the next
  - TEST: Does each movement have a natural bridge to the next?
  - HOW TO FIX: Think about how one point naturally leads to your next thought. A lot of the time, the passage already has a flow of logic you can lean into.
- [ ] My illustrations support the point
  - TEST: Does each story or illustration have a purpose? Is there more than one per point?
  - HOW TO FIX: If it doesn't support your main idea, trim it, change it, or cut it.

4 Delivery Readiness

- [ ] I've prayed over this message and the people who will hear it
  - TEST: Can you name three people who will be in the room and how this message meets them?
  - HOW TO FIX: Pray for them by name. It changes how you'll preach it.
- [ ] I've read this sermon aloud at least once
  - TEST: Time it. Is it within two minutes of your slot? Shorter is better, because most of us preach longer in person.
  - HOW TO FIX: Decide now what you'll cut, before you're cutting live on Sunday.
- [ ] I know where I tend to rush and have marked those spots
  - TEST: Find the one sentence you most want them to remember. Have you marked a pause before and after it?
  - HOW TO FIX: Mark it. Say it slowly a few times. Your most important line deserves silence on both sides.

5 Logistics

- [ ] Notes or outline are ready and accessible
  - TEST: If your tablet dies or your pages drop, can you still preach the outline?
  - HOW TO FIX: Whether you use a tablet or printed pages, print a backup copy just in case.
- [ ] Any tech (slides, mic) is confirmed
  - TEST: Have you sent your notes or slides to the production team to be reviewed and entered before Sunday?
  - HOW TO FIX: Support your team by sending them today. The Scriptures and main points likely won't change; you're in the fine-tuning phase.
